Police Break Up Theft Ring in Saline, Gallatin, Hardin, Pope Counties

Man, Two Women
Held in Jail Here;
Fourth at Large

State policemen, acting on a tip, this week broke up a thievery ring that has been operating in Saline, Gallatin, Hardin and Pope counties for about a year.

Held in the Saline county jail are Thomas Boswell, 29, his wife, Helen Thomas Boswell, and Juanita Flick. Juanita's husband, Charles Flick, 23, is still at large. Both couples reside in Hardin county and all four are charged with larceny in county court information on file here.

The trio held here was arrested Monday night, when Flick made his getaway. Information on the arrests was withheld a few days in the hopes that Flick could be picked up, as he was reported to have been in Harrisburg Tuesday following the arrest of the other three the previous night.

Caught Stripping Auto

The trio was arrested by State Policemen Roy A. Lane and Adolph Sweat, who had received a tip from a Harrisburg motorist. They were told by the motorist that several times he had passed an abandoned car on the shoulder of Route 34 just north of the Harrisburg-Independence townships line and that when he had passed a few minutes previously, there were indications that it was being stripped.

The officers hastened to the scene and found Boswell lying in a ditch, trying to hide, and Flick running out of sight into a cornfield. All four wheels and tires had been stripped from the car when the officers got there, they said, with one lying on the ditch bank and the other three in the adjacent cornfield.

The officers then found the wives of the two men in a soybean field, sitting in Flick's car. They removed a coil from the auto ignition system, took the car key, and brought the trio to the Saline county jail.

Hastening back to the Flick car, they found that Flick had loaded the four wheels and tires into the car and apparently then had tried to start the car, taking off on foot when he couldn't.

Sheriff Paul Spangler said that Flick has served two terms for burglary and larceny, one at the Pontiac reformatory and one at Menard. Boswell served four and a half years of a one to 10-year sentence at Menard for breaking into a home in Pope county in 1949. He was released on parole last December and will be turned over to parole officers for violating his parole. Spangler said that questioning of the three revealed that number-

Illinois Guard Convoy Trucks Overtaken; 1 Dead

Five Guardsmen
Injured En Route
Home from Training

SAUK CITY, Wis. (AP)—One man was killed and five others were injured today when several trucks in an Illinois National Guard convoy skidded on a slippery hill and overturned.

Five trucks turned over and several others went off the road.

The guardsmen were on their way home after taking two weeks training at Camp Ripley, Minn.

Sauk County highway patrolmen said the accident apparently occurred when a truck in the convoy skidded on the wet blacktop road.

Trucks immediately behind slammed on their brakes to avoid the first truck and also overturned.

Some of the vehicles were pulling artillery pieces which were scattered about.

Two Reported Serious
Other trucks contained supplies which were spilled on U. S. 12, a four-lane highway.

The injured guardsmen were taken to a Baraboo hospital. Two were reported in serious condition.

At Springfield, Ill., the office of Illinois Adjutant General Leo M. Boyle said the dead man was identified as Sgt. Lester Aron, Chicago, a truck driver. The office also would release names of the injured when next of kin have been notified, officers said.

Supply vehicles spilled bedding, clothing and food on the highway. One truck landed upside down on a jeep.

Sauk county traffic patrolmen diverted south-bound traffic onto the other two lanes of the highway while the wreckage was being cleared away.

The widow of Allan Erwin, she leaves two sons, Jesse and Bernard, both of Harrisburg; two granddaughters, one sister, Mrs. Belle Raymer of Equality.

The funeral will be Sunday at 2 p. m. at the Jones church. Rev. Roy Reynolds will officiate, and burial will be in the Jones cemetery.

The body will be taken from the Gibbons funeral chapel to the residence to lie in state.

Two Eldorado Offices Entered By Pilferers

The Eldorado Examiner offices and the offices of Dr. J. C. Brewer, dentist, were entered last night by pilferers but an effort to enter the office of Dr. John E. Choiser, also in the same brick building on Locust street in Eldorado, was unsuccessful.

Sheriff Paul Spangler, who with Deputy Sheriff Isham Threest and Eldorado policemen investigated, said entrance was made by forcing open the rear door into the Examiner office. There a drawer of a desk occupied by Grace Kames was pried open and between $10 and $15 in cash was taken. Several checks were left.

The office of Dr. Brewer was entered by forcing open the door and it was ransacked, with only about $1 or $1.75 the loot.

There were marks indicating the thieves had tried to enter the office of Dr. Choiser.

Frank Davenport of Near Stonefort Dies

Frank Davenport, Stonefort Star Route, died Thursday at 11:50 p. m. in the Lightner hospital at the age of 53 years.

The son of Thomas Davenport and the late Mary Davenport, he made his home with his father and had been in failing health for the past year. He was a farmer by occupation.

The funeral will be Saturday at 3 p. m. at Reed's chapel church where he was a member. Rev. Joe Rose, assisted by Walter Holmes, will officiate.

Palbearers will be Clyde Murphy, Roy Murphy, Carl Murphy, John Cowger, Arthur Hill and Theodore Warren.

He is survived by his father, Thomas Davenport, two brothers, Roscoe and Douglas, both of Chicago, and two sisters, Mrs. Molly O'Keefe, Stonefort, and Mrs. Myrtle Dunn, Rochester, Mich. One brother preceded him in death in 1932.

The body will lie in state at the Miller funeral home in Carrier Mills.

Train Hits Auto, 3 Hospitalized, 2 Others Hurt

An automobile containing four adults and three children from Harrisburg and vicinity was struck by a locomotive yesterday in White county, with three being hospitalized with injuries.

Those in the car were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Drott and two children, Phyllis Ann, 7 years, and Charles A., 10 months, of Galatia Route 1; Mrs. Dean Guye and daughter, Darlene, two and a half years, of Harrisburg; and a neighbor of the Drotts, Mrs. Otto Henn.

In the Ferrell hospital at Eldorado are Mrs. Henn, who suffered the most extensive injuries, Mrs. Drott and the Drott baby, Charles A. Darlene Guye and Phyllis Ann Drott received treatment for injuries and were released and Mrs. Guye and Mrs. Drott were not injured.

Mr. Guye, Kroger store employee here who was called to the accident, said the collision occurred on Route 1 between Norris City and Omaha as the group was en route to a Presbyterian youth camp at Cottonwood.

The locomotive of a B and O freight train, he said, hit the rear side of the car at a crossing, spinning the car around and sending it into a ditch instead of hitting it broadside. All of the occupants of the car except the driver, Mr. Drott, were thrown from the machine.

Gov't to Sell Livestock Feed In Drought Areas

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department today announced plans to sell government-owned animal feeds at cut prices to farmers in drought areas.

Few details of the feed relief program were announced immediately. It is expected, however, to be similar to one which ended July 15 after distribution of 2,146,719 tons of feed at a loss of $75,559,000.

The department said the new program will be for "established farmers or stockmen" unable to maintain basic foundation herds of livestock without government aid.

The low cost feed will be sold only in counties designated as drought disaster areas by the President and the Agriculture Department.

A total of 78 counties in Texas, Wyoming, Colorado and New Mexico already are in this category.

Under the feed program, the department said stockmen will be allowed to buy no more than a 60-day supply. The feed can be used only for livestock in the designated counties.

Rites Sunday for Mrs. Charles Batey

Funeral services for Mrs. Charles Batey, 213 West Homer, who died yesterday in the Good Shepherd Nursing Home in Galatia, will be held Sunday at 2 p. m. at the General Baptist church on Sloan street. Rev. W. J. Milligan, assisted by the church pastor, Rev. Ned Sutton, will conduct the service, and burial will be in Sunset Lawn cemetery.

The body was taken from the Harrisburg funeral home to lie in state at the residence.

Three Coal Mine Fatalities in June

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Three coal mine fatalities were reported in Illinois during June, all in a hoist accident in Williamson county, the State Mines and Minerals Department said today.

A hoist caught on an obstruction in Freeman Mine No. 3 and hurled the men to the bottom of the shaft, killing three and injuring one.

The department said the 1954 coal mine fatality toll now is 16.

THE BONDS which comprise the $200,000 issue approved by the voters of Harrisburg March 18 were signed this morning by Mayor Ralph Horning and City Clerk Olive Patterson, seated, as Howard Percy of the bond firm, Barcus-Kindred and Co., Chicago, looks on. ### $200,000 Bonds for Lake Signed; Expect Money Here Next Week

Two hundred thousand dollars worth of lake bonds were signed today by Mayor Ralph Horning and City Clerk Olive Patterson as the work toward the construction of a Lake Harrisburg gained momentum.

When these bonds are delivered to the Chicago bond firm, Barcus-Kindred and Co., the firm will send the money to Harrisburg, and it is expected to arrive at the Harrisburg National bank Monday or Tuesday in the form of two checks.

One for $70,000 to cover land purchases, the other for $130,000 to cover construction costs.

The city council this week passed a motion calling for an escrow agreement, whereby the Harrisburg National bank will hold the money from the bonds and the deeds for needed land. When the money arrives the land owners will be paid off for the deeds.

All deeds are being held except in about three instances.

Mayor Horning and Mrs. Patterson signed the 200 $1,000 bonds in the presence of Howard Percy of Mt. Vernon, representative of Barcus-Kindred. It was Percy who said the money should be here Monday or Tuesday in the form of two checks.

These bonds were approved by the voters of the city of Harrisburg in a referendum March 18 by a vote of 2,301 to 901. The $200,000 will be for purchase of lake land between Raleigh and Galatia, the construction of a large dam just off Route 34 south-east of Galatia, the clearing of the land to be covered by water, the construction of a spillway and gateways, all at the lake site, and an addition to the filter plant in the laying of 3,000 feet of six-inch water mains inside the city.

Advertising for bids on the construction job is expected to be done momentarily.

The Carrier Mills area had a rain fall of near cloudburst proportions last night and everyone seemed happy about it as it is possible their 40,000,000 gallons capacity reservoir will be filled.

The rainfall measured 1.54 at the reservoir at 3 a. m. today, but gauges updown measured 1.90. This was in addition to a 1.07 rain Wednesday.

At noon today there were five pumps pouring water into the reservoir and two more pumps were to go into operation this afternoon. Approximately 2,000 gallons a minute were going in the reservoir and pumping should continue for many hours.

Three city pumps, a 6 inch, 4 inch and 1 1/2 inch, plus the two fire trucks were in operation, along with a 4 inch pump loaned the city by the Triangle Construction company. A 4 inch pump was being loaned by the Saxton Coal company, Stonefort, and the Delta Coal company, Marion, was loaning a 3 inch pump. The last two were on their way to the city at noon.

Freeman O'Keefe, mayor of Carrier Mills, pointed out that a dam on Beck Branch, about a mile south of the reservoir, was holding the water and it was thought all coming down the branch could be pumped. The dam has spilled water all over the countryside, but it flows by gravity to the pumping station.

C. E. Owen, superintendent of the water system, said pumping operations started at 6 p. m. Wednesday and had been continuous since that time.

Mr. Owen was of the opinion it would be possible to fill the reservoir, which will mean about a year's supply in storage. There was less than three months supply available before the rains came.

In answer to a question regarding the lifting of restrictions on water use, Mr. O'Keefe said "We hope to be able to lift all restrictions, but no action will be taken until we stop pumping. We want to see what we have before we start using it."

A fire warning system has been perfected so that the fire trucks can be alerted immediately, and they are placed so they can be on the move in a minimum amount of time.

House Takes Up Atomic Revision Bill

Expect to Pass
Measure Before
Senate Action

By United Press

It looked today as though the House would pass the atomic revision bill long before the Senate acts on the measure.

With the Senate in the 10th day of debate and the third outright filibuster on the bill, House leaders decided to wait no longer.

They took the measure up under a debate limitation rule and said they hoped they could pass it by nightfall. Whether that could be done depends, however, on how many amendments were offered, and a lot appeared to be in prospect.

The Senate talkathon just about junked leadership hopes of adjourning Congress July 31. It has held up important legislation on which the administration wants action this session.

Apparently the administration believes the session will be kept going long enough to complete work on the so-called "must" bills. Asked if the Senate filibuster has harmed the administration's legislative program, White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said, "I don't believe so."

Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland (Calif.), who has kept the Senate in practically continuous session since 10 a. m. Wednesday, promised the weary legislators a weekend respite. He said he would let the Senate recess over Sunday.

Other Congress highlights:

Housing: Samuel Rodman, a Washington builder, accused Sen. Homer E. Capehart (R-Ind.) of unfair treatment at a hearing on "windfall" profits under the government housing program. Rodman objected because Capehart said Mrs. Rodman "hid behind" the Fifth Amendment when she appeared before the House Un-American Activities Committee in 1949. Capehart withdrew the expression.

Contempt: The House unanimously voted contempt citations against 17 witnesses who refused to answer questions by the Un-American Activities Committee about Communist affiliations. At the same time it withdrew a citation against one witness, Francis X. T. Crowley of New York, who purged himself of contempt on a voluntary second appearance.

Program: Senate Republicans accused Democrats of trying to hold up President Eisenhower's legislative program by filibustering on the atomic energy bill.

Knowland said the talkathon on the atomic energy bill is "blockading" the entire program. He said the Senate was making a "spectacle" of itself.

Knowland called the overtime sessions in an effort to force a vote on the President's atomic energy bill which would revise the nation's atomic laws. The debate has centered on one provision already passed — which would allow the Atomic Energy Commission to contract for power in the Tennessee Valley from a private utility group.

E. J. Thompsons Find Good Crops Through the West

HOT WEATHER SPECIAL: Can you imagine crops drowned out? Can you imagine irises and peonies right now in bloom? Lettuce right now large enough to eat. Strawberries being picked the latter part of July.

Yep.

I got a letter from E. J. Thompson, agriculture teacher at HTHS, who wrote from the State of Washington.

He said that southern and central Illinois are about the only places he saw where crops were suffering from lack of rain, and in many places they were drowned out.

"The pastures were exceptionally good all the way here," he writes. "The highest temperature after leaving Illinois was 88 degrees."

And he continued: "Yesterday we spent the day in Glacier National park in northwest Montana and took pictures of snow over ten feet deep. We saw five or six glaciers. Anyone driving to Washington should not miss going through this park by way of Logan Pass, which is rated as one of the most beautiful drives in the world, according to our guide book. We say Amen!"

"Wheat out here, and there's plenty of it, will be ready for harvest around Sept. 1. We learned that 'summer following' is practiced throughout this area. By that I mean this: A strip of ten or 20 acres is planted in wheat and the same size strip next to it is plowed and tilled but not seeded in wheat until the next year. In other words, they plan on getting one crop every two years. Because of the drought in southern Illinois, I'm wondering if this might not prove to be a good practice to use at home."

MEAT DEPT.: Using electric emersion heaters to heat a brine solution to 127 degrees Fahrenheit cooks a new type of bacon in ten hours. I read with interest in the publication, Electrical World.

This thermo cure process is said to give bacon a brighter and more uniform color and uniform cure penetration throughout, making for a more palatable product. Cooking time of ten hours compares with old curing processes, which required from eight to ten days, the item says.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY
Follow me and I will make you fishers of men. — Matt. 4:19.

In all human history there is nothing to compare with the explosive growth of a few humble men into world leaders. The Great Nazarene had measureless faith in common men. Great ideals and great purposes do transform men. May be we, too, are sleeping giants?

Blame for Indo-China

If all Indo-China should fall or should it be partitioned in a fashion favorable to the Communists, then the standard American game of assigning blame will begin in earnest.

This is a game our politicians clearly love to play, but not one that many play with any real sense of responsibility for truth.

In some cases they are grossly inaccurate, as measured against checkable facts. In others, they make convenient assumptions where the facts either can't be fully ascertained or seem to be conflicting. In a relative few, they put the blame where it belongs.

Their eagerness to fix blame, usually on the opposite political party, is understandable enough. But where this effort is pursued irresponsibly, it is no service to the American people, even though politicians may imagine it is a service to them at the polls.

Somewhere in all the vast complexity of today's affairs there ought to be a place for the simple truth. Not too many seem to worry about it. Most go blithely about distributing their own versions of events free of charge, without the necessary critical regard for actualities.

It's about time to call a halt to this reckless writing of history "off the cuff." The story of China's fall to communism is now so muddled by wild political distortions that the average citizen is hopelessly lost in trying to gauge what happened. We should not have a repetition of this on Indo-China.

Though professors as such are automatically suspect in the eyes of some politicians, there must be some historians in this country who command fairly broad respect in all political quarters.

These scholars ought to be commissioned now to give us the fullest, truest story presently ascertainable on events in Indo-China.

A panel of experts on the Far East could be chosen by the organization of American historians, with due regard to the need for the most impartial and most dispassionate approach.

They could undertake the study as judges tackle any social issue of grave importance.

That does not mean their report would be accepted as would a judge's verdict. You could never hope to convince political extremists with a mere recital of facts. They are largely impervious to facts. Indeed, they make a specialty of ignoring them.

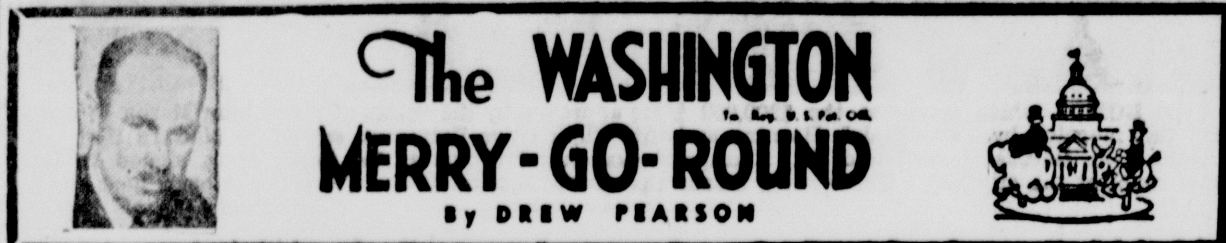

But it would be like a fresh breeze to have so sober and responsible an effort made to find and tell the real truth in a critical area of foreign affairs. And ask any doctor: fresh air is good for people.

One Might Call It a Situation Fraught With Danger

DREW PEARSON Says: Our Indecision In Indo-China Should Be Avoided In Future; Joe Will Be Out Of Luck Without Roy; 27-Year Old Roy Cohn Watched 44-Year Old McCarthy Like His Own Son.

WASHINGTON. — Back-Look at Indo-China — The mistakes in handling Indo-China are legion. The Republicans inherited some Democratic mistakes, made a lot more themselves. Only reason for looking back is to avoid mistakes in the future.

Here are some of them—mistake No. 1 was made by Dean Acheson when he did not demand that France give independence to Indo-China within the French Union. Acheson was tough with the French. Reason: The U. S. military wanted bases in France and North Africa. . . . so with independence unsettled, the Communists had grist for revolution and the fighting continued. . . . one year after the Eisenhower administration took office it proposed doing something definite about Indo-China. . . . Decision, as in most foreign policy matters, was made, not by Ike, but by his advisers. He remained about, though acquiescent.

It was decided to make an all-out drive to education the American public on the importance of Indo-China and possible war. The American public obviously was not ready for war and it became more confused. By the "education." There were too many educators and some of their speeches backfired. Dulles called the Geneva conference "the world's best hope." It ended in disastrous retreat. . . . Dulles told the American Legion in St. Louis that China would suffer "grave consequences" if she continued aggression. The Chinese thumbed their noses; the aggression continued. . . . Dulles on January 12 talked of "instant retaliation by means and places of our own choosing." We would not get bogged down in little wars.

But Vice President Nixon on April 16 told the American Society of Newspaper Editors that we would send troops to Indo-China if necessary — which meant getting bogged down in a little war. . . . A few days later, April 21, Nixon told a Des Moines audience. "Our policy is to avoid sending our boys to Indo-China or anywhere else to fight. . . . Eisenhower, statement added to the confusion." Referring by name to Indo-China, Ike told the newspaper editors in April 1953: "Any armistice in Korea that merely released aggressive armies to attack elsewhere would be a fraud."

In August he told the governors in Seattle that Indo-China was indispensable. "If Indo-China goes the last little bit of land hanging on down there would be indefensible. The tin and tungsten that we so greatly value would cease coming. All India would be outflanked. Burma would be in no position for defense."

But as the Chinese war got hotter Ike told a February 10 press conference: "No one is more bitterly opposed to getting the United States into a hot war in that region than I am." Meanwhile the chairman of Ike's joint chiefs of staff, Admiral Radford, was definitely talking about hot war, was getting ready to send airplane carriers to Indo-China. . . . Later Radford made a definite proposal to congressional leaders to send the air force and the navy into Indo-China. . . . Simultaneously Dulles asked Congress for a blanket resolution to permit Eisenhower to take any steps necessary in Indo-China. . . . But the President, asked about these steps, was vague. "There is fighting going on," he said, "and of course everybody would like to see it stopped." But he was merely talking about some solution that would be acceptable to us and would stop this blood-letting. . . . So ran his press conference statements.

Finally, after months of indecision, came this week's Geneva truce which satisfied nobody, except the Communists, least of all was "acceptable to us." So runs the case history of our uncertain diplomacy in Indo-China, a policy of "instant retaliation," "liberation," and "the new look."

ROY WILL BE MISSED
Roy Cohn will probably miss Washington. He will miss its glamor, the privilege of rummaging through anyone's income taxes, the power of subpoenaing anyone in the U. S. A. and hauling them before television cameras. It's a position few people in the nation attain, so he's certain to miss it.

And to some extent Washington will miss him — though not always with regret. The photographers, the TV men, the newsmen will miss the brash, bumptious, brilliant youngster who made news headlines whenever he opened his mouth.

But most of all Joe McCarthy will miss Roy.

TV cameras haven't been focusing on Joe lately. The big show is over, and Joe is deliberately shunning the limelight. Public relations advisers have told him to stay away from it. But if the TV cameras were still on focus last week, the public would have seen the 27-year old Roy still influencing almost every move the senator makes.

At a press conference last week, McCarthy was parrying questions. Most he answered on his own. But whenever he faltered, Roy was right beside him.

"How long will you be in Boston, Senator?" was one question, McCarthy hesitated.

In a stage whisper, Cohn prompted: "Don't know."

"We have an awful lot of witnesses to hear in Boston and lots of business to take care of," he said. "We just can't tell now how long it will take."

WRONG DOOR
Joe smiled. Newsmen knew that he didn't know what witnesses were to be called, or how many. He had left everything to Roy. And Joe knew that they knew it. But they couldn't print it. They had to print his answer.

Cohn moved to one side as McCarthy went on to explain that two members of his staff wanted

It's a Million Dollar Ride-and no foolin'

You can see for yourself the gay and gorgeous styling that's sure to be the fresh note next year, too.

And you can easily learn that here is power a-plenty—the highest V8 power, Series for Series, in the annals of Buick history.

But what you can never know, till you try it yourself, is the feel of a Buick in motion.

It's a ride as precision-soft and firm as only coiled steel can make it.

Yes, coil springs on all four wheels. And a full-length torque-tube drive for true tracking. And a massive X-braced frame for solid steadiness. And specially calibrated shock absorbers, V-braced struts, wide-rim wheels, a unique front-end geometry—plus a host of other betterments too numerous to mention.

You feel the result of this advanced engineering every mile you drive—in what is literally and figuratively a Million Dollar Ride.

You feel it in the superb and buoyant cradling. You feel it in the serene levelness of your going over ruts and ridges. You feel it in the precise snubbing of jars and jounces. You feel it in a new kind of steadiness, handling ease, curve control.

Only thing for you to do, we believe, is to come try this miracle of motion—and we'll be glad to oblige.

That way you'll also learn firsthand about the style, the power, and the value that have made Buick such a best-selling success this year. For Buick today is out-selling all other cars in America except two of the so-called "low-price three."

(Smart tip: With Buick such a beautiful buy this year, think what a winner it's bound to be at trade-in time! Come see us this week!)

Wheat Farmers Vote Today on Gov't Controls

By United Press

The nation's wheat farmers were to decide with their votes today whether they will get strict federal marketing quotas and acreage allotments on their 1955 crop.

It was the second straight year the issue has been put up to the farmers. Last year they favored quotas and wheat acreage was cut 20 per cent from 1953.

In Kansas, the nation's top wheat state, an agriculture official predicted farmers would return the same verdict this year.

Between 800,000 and 900,000 farmers raising more than 15 acres of wheat were eligible to vote. A two-thirds vote is necessary to approve controls.

A pro-control vote would cut 1955 acreage 12 per cent and assure farmers of supports at a fairly high level.

But they don't know how high because Congress is still debating what level of supports to put on basic crops after the rigid high 90 per cent of parity expires this year.

The House has already approved a flexible program ranging from 82 1/2 to 90 per cent of parity. Agriculture Department officials predicted the support level would be anywhere from 75 to 90 per cent, or $1.87 to $2.24 a bushel at present rates.

If farmers reject quotas, wheat support levels will drop to 50 per cent of parity.

Witness Claims Punishment Order For 225 Trainees Issued by Sergeant

FT. DIX, N. J. (AP)—One of the 225 trainees forced to stand at attention for one hour in broiling 90-degree heat testified today the punishment order was given by a first sergeant he described as "dictatorial and tyrannical — a sadistic individual."

Pvt. John Adler, 29, Purchase Lane, Rye, N. Y., a Dartmouth college graduate who once held an Air Force commission, testified he did not see his commanding officer, 1st Lt. Robert Morgan, 28, Wilkes-Barre, Pa., in the area at the time of the incident.

Adler was the first defense witness at the court martial of Morgan on a charge of dereliction of duty in permitting the formation during which, the prosecution charged, more than a score of men fainted and were revived with buckets of water thrown in their faces.

The first sergeant, Richard Witbeck, Wellington, Ohio, will be tried at a later court martial on a charge of maltreatment of personnel.

Adler said the company was made to stand at attention under the broiling sun with rifles.

"Those who moved a finger were made to do pushups," he said. He said although he was in a front line he saw some of the men faint and heard Witbeck order the water thrown in the faces of the unconscious men.

He said Witbeck was "showing his power in an arbitrary way." "We needed some correction," Adler said, "but he was dictatorial

Miss Judy Pool Is Injured While Riding a Horse

Miss Judy Pool, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pool of Harrisburg, suffered a dislocated hip late yesterday while riding a horse in Dorrisville. Reports were that a horse fell off into a ditch, falling onto Miss Pool. She was taken to Lightner hospital.

Seek Former E. St. Louis Man In Girl's Murder

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The No. 1 suspect in the slaying of a girl whose body was found stuffed in a dresser drawer in an Indianapolis hotel room was arrested today by St. Louis County deputy sheriffs.

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—A multi-state search was launched today for a fast-talking, pint-sized hitchhiker wanted in the slaying of a girl whose body was found stuffed in a hotel dresser drawer.

Authorities in Illinois, Missouri, Texas and points west were alerted to be on the lookout for Victor H. Lively, 32, former Beaumont, Tex., and East St. Louis, Ill., resident.

Police said Lively's description matches that of the elusive "Jack O'Shea," who checked out of the Claypool Hotel here leaving 18-year-old Dorothy Poore's body behind him.

"O'Shea" has been described as a "woman crazy type" who offered a cab driver and bell boys money to "get me a woman."

A man who registered as Victor Lively and acted and looked like "O'Shea" had also stayed at the Kirkwood Hotel here.

An unidentified employer told police that Lively had worked for him during the last three weeks in East St. Louis as solicitor for a roofing and siding firm.

Intended to Remarry He also told police Lively acquired a 32-caliber automatic German Mauser pistol and was last seen hitchhiking toward St. Louis, Mo., Thursday.

"I believe he saw an Indianapolis newspaper which convinced him he had been identified as the man wanted there and immediately made plans to leave the city," the employer told police.

Homicide Capt. Robert Reilly, in charge of the investigation, said "there is no question in my mind that we have in our possession at this time sufficient information to apprehend and extradite him."

Police learned that Lively left East St. Louis for Indianapolis July 14 after telling his employer he intended to remarry his divorced wife here. Lively returned to work July 17.

Authorities reported that Lively had a "bad reputation" in his birthplace, Beaumont. They also learned he is red-haired, five-foot three, weighing 140 pounds, visible and reportedly speaks seven languages.

Miss Poore, a small town girl who came to the city looking for work, was apparently slain by suffocation with a pillow in Room 665 of the Claypool. Her partly clad body was found Sunday, 40 or more hours after she died.

Orchids Many varieties of orchids are as common in their native tropics as daisies and milkweed in our northern fields. The orchid family, which comprises more than 15,000 species, has several members native to the United States.

Soviet Official Who Led Doctors Plot is Executed

MOSCOW (AP)—The former official of the state security ministry who fabricated the so-called Kremlin doctors plot has been executed, it was announced today.

M. D. Ryumin, former investigating magistrate of the now-defunct agency, was shot Thursday under a sentence pronounced by the Soviet Supreme Court, Pravda reported.

He was convicted of falsifying evidence and causing the "groundless arrests of a number of Soviet citizens including outstanding figures in medicine," the official Communist party newspaper said.

Fifteen doctors were arrested in January 1953 accused of responsibility for the deaths of two Soviet officials and of plotting the murder of other high government and military leaders. They were released and exonerated in April and Ryumin's arrest announced.

Guard Troops Rule Vice City In Alabama

PHENIX CITY, Ala. (AP)—Battle-equipped National Guard troops ruled this vice-infested city of "turmoil and fear" today after ousting all law enforcement officers and rounding up their guns and badges.

The grim-faced Guardsmen armed with machine guns, shotguns and carbines, moved into the sheriff's office and the police department on orders of Gov. Gordon Persons, who declared a state of martial law late Thursday.

All weapon permits were voided and the troops began disarming the citizenry. By early today some 40 pistols and one sub-machine gun were reported confiscated.

Persons said the Guardsmen will remain in command until they have wiped out the "lawlessness, intimidation, tumult and fear" that have gripped the city's 23,000 persons since the June 18 underworld assassination of crime-fighting Albert L. Patterson.

Off Limits to Troops

Patterson was shot to death in an alley after receiving the Democratic nomination as state attorney general a few days before on a pledge to "clean up" Alabama, starting with his home town.

Patterson's murder climaxed years of lawlessness in this southern city where soldiers from nearby Ft. Benning, Ga., were served up whisky, prostitutes, or a chance to lose a month's pay at one roll of dice or spin of a gambling wheel.

National Guardsmen have been stationed here since the unsolved slaying and the area has been "off limits" to troops from Ft. Benning. But there have been continued reports of threats against special state investigators and even Persons himself.

Persons said he declared martial law because "local police officers are unable or unwilling to do their duty."

Rumor Merger of Three Steel Firms

NEW YORK (AP)—Rumors persisted in Wall Street today that a merger of Bethlehem Steel Corp., Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. and Follansbee Steel Corp. was in the works.

Such a merger would create a steel giant with both assets and sales of more than two billion dollars.

However, United States Steel Corp. still would be the world's biggest steel firm in sales, assets and tonnage output.

Defense Officials Banned from Writing Articles

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense Department's "big team" of civilian officials and military chiefs were under strict orders today to stop writing articles for publication.

A directive proclaims "The basic philosophy is that members of the big team are so busy and so occupied with their heavy responsibilities that time for signed presentations is ill-advised." The directive went to the Security Review Branch which passes on material made public by the Defense Department.

The new policy of keeping the "big team" out of the writing market may be in line with Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson's view that there should be less "rattling of the atomic bomb" or any other new weapons. The action was taken at a meeting of top Pentagon civilians at which Wilson's views are reported to have weighed heavily.

Banned Navy Article

The Defense Department's "big team" consists of 24 civilian secretaries and assistant secretaries, and the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Such federal officers have frequently chosen the signed article as a means of expressing their views on national defense problems.

The matter of writing for publication came to a head when the Navy planned to have Assistant Secretary James H. Smith by-line an article making original disclosures on two new vertical take-off fighter planes which require no runways to operate.

The Defense Department is reported to have stopped that one on grounds that information was being given exclusively to a single publication under an official by-line.

The broader order followed, stating that any signed articles "are

23 Beautiful Girls Remain in Running For Title of Miss Universe Tonight

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—The world's most beautiful girls will parade their charms in bathing suits tonight in a "battle of beauty" for the title of Miss Universe.

This year's Miss Universe will be selected by judges late tonight, but will not be officially crowned until Saturday night's Coronation Ball which climaxes the Miss Universe beauty pageant.

The judges picked 20 semifinalists from the 33 international beauties taking part in the preliminary judging Thursday night. Their names will not be disclosed until tonight, when their ranks are narrowed to five finalists.

Last year's Miss Universe, Christine Martel of Paris, will be in inappropriate. The "moral consideration" of writing for pay was said to be secondary to the "basic consideration" that officials are, or should be, too busy.

As zero hour drew near, the contestants became more serious, sitting down on the giggling and girlish horseplay which livened earlier sessions.

Wearing street clothes, mostly slacks, sweaters and rosettes, the girls assembled backstage at Municipal Auditorium to rehearse for tonight's show.

The corps of hostesses assigned to look after the girls clanked something of an Iron Curtain on the final activities, turning away all unauthorized persons.

Despite the late hour, a favorite from among the beautiful contestants apparently had not been picked.

However, the winner of Wednesday night's Miss United States contest, 21-year-old Miriam Stevenson of Winnsboro, S. C., and Myrna Crocco, Miss El Salvador, received plaudits from the other girls.

Hearing Set for July 29 for Conservation Department Agent Who Refused Transfer

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (Special)—The Illinois Civil Service Commission has set July 29 for hearing the case of Cyril (Kelly) Duesterhaus, Quincy, whose dismissal as a state game warden is sought by the State Conservation Department. He is charged with having refused to accept a transfer from Quincy to Harrisburg. James N. Keefe, Quincy, counsel for Duesterhaus, said the latter is only one of about 30 game wardens, all Democrats, whom the Department seeks to replace with Republicans.

Duesterhaus, Keefe said, was scheduled to have had a hearing here before the Illinois Civil Service Commission yesterday only to find after he came here that it had been postponed to July 29. He claims the transfer of Duesterhaus as well as transfers of other inspectors (all Democrats) was a maneuver to force their resignations.

Keefe said Duesterhaus, who is classified as a conservation department inspector or game warden under civil service, was first asked to resign and that when he refused, was transferred to LaSalle county. He accepted the transfer, Keefe said, only to find two other game wardens in the county "doing nothing" so he wrote to the department that he was returning to Quincy to his old job.

Duesterhaus who went to work for the state in 1950, said he was transferred to LaSalle last September and that after he returned to Quincy was kept on the payroll until last month when he was ordered transferred to Harrisburg, a transfer which Keefe said he refused. After his refusal to accept the transfer Conservation Director Glen Palmer, Yorkville, suspended him for 30 days and preferred charges against Duesterhaus before the Civil Service Commission.

Keefe listed game wardens whose resignations were allegedly demanded because Palmer sought to replace them with Republicans, as including: Paul Vargo, Harrisburg, who is said to have resigned, then withdrew his resignation and whose status is still pending; Harold Knight, Rock Island, transferred from Rock Island county to Cook county, was asked to resign and who was replaced by Hank Hanah, Moline; and Lyman Works, as assigned to Lawrence and Edwards county, who was requested to resign or take a transfer to Chicago from his wife and five children.

Jaycees, Turners Win Kiwanis Tilts; Two Postponed

The Jaycees and Turners were victors in the two games played in Kiwanis league baseball Thursday. Rain and wet diamond caused the postponement of the other two scheduled contests.

The Jaycees took a firm hold on first place in the National loop as they thumped the Excel team, 9-2, Barger hurled all the way for the winners, allowing only six hits and two runs. Sanders was the losing pitcher.

Cummins sparked the Jaycees at bat with three hits and Speak took batting honors for the losers with a pair of singles.

Turner's Cafe, with a 16-run first inning, coasted to a 21-6 win over the AAA. Biggs hurled the victory for Turners, rapidly becoming a power in the league after a slow start. Wirth started for AAA on the mound and took the loss.

Another session of the baseball school is scheduled for Saturday morning and all members of Kiwanis league teams are invited to attend.

EQUALITY HIGH'S NEW GYMNASIUM is nearing completion and H. F. Mitchell Construction Co., Harrisburg, contractors for the structure, anticipate winding up work there within a month to six weeks. This will place the structure in readiness for the school term.

The gymnasium section is 80 x 100 and at the east end is a new shop room 24 x 55. A stage is at one end of the gymnasium, which also houses two stage dressing rooms and two shower rooms. The gym is of the partially submerged type with the floor some four and a half feet below the school floor level. Five rows of bleacher seats will be placed on the north and south sides of the gym. Workmen this week completed the sub-flooring.

FOUR GOSH SAKES!—Surprise was registered in the Yankees' dressing room by Irv Noren as he pointed to the bats signifying the number of hits garnered by the outfielder in a game won by his home run in the ninth inning. The face lighted by the grin belonged to the winning pitcher of the day, Whitey Ford. Noren batted at a phenomenal 560 clip in hot streak.

Yankees Win Two from White Sox in Tune Up for Indians; Cubs Beat Giants

By EARL WRIGHT
United Press Sports Writer

Casey Stengel, the grizzled manager who manages the New York Yankees, predicted a three-team race down to the wire today as his second-place team began a three-game series with the front-running Cleveland Indians.

Cleveland held its half-game lead over New York Thursday by defeating the Boston Red Sox, 6-3 and 5-2, while New York downed the Chicago White Sox, 4-3 in 10 innings and 11-1.

The Yankees, warmed up for Cleveland by taking three out of four from Chicago, Thursday's defeats dropped the third-place White Sox 6 1/2 games behind Cleveland. But Stengel said he figured both Cleveland and Chicago would make him sweat for his sixth straight American league pennant.

White Sox Can Gain

"The White Sox stand to profit from our series with Cleveland," Stengel said. "If Cleveland should sweep the series, we can be hurt bad. If we sweep it, it will hurt Cleveland but it'll also help Chicago. But it's just another tough series. Nobody (Cleveland, New York and Chicago) is gonna get very far ahead."

Manager Al Lopez of Cleveland plans to start Early Wynn, Don Mossi and Mike Garcia in that order. Stengel will counter with Ed Lopat, Allie Reynolds and Whitey Ford.

In the National league race, the Chicago Cubs defeated the first place Giants, 13-5, and the second-place Brooklyn Dodgers beat the Cincinnati Reds, 8-5, to cut New York's lead to six games.

The Milwaukee Braves edged the Philadelphia Phillies, 3-2, and Red Schoendienst singled home Wally Moon with two out in the bottom of the 14th inning to give the St. Louis Cardinals a 3-2 night victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates in the other National league contests.

Mickey Vernon's ninth inning single scored Mickey McDermott with the winning run as the Washington Senators defeated the Baltimore Orioles, 3-2, and home runs by Harvey Kuenn, Wayne Belardi, Frank Bolling and Jim Delsing helped the Detroit Tigers beat the Philadelphia Athletics, 9-4, in American league night games.

Bob Feller and Bob Lemon pitched seven-hitters at Boston. Vic Wertz hit two two-run homers in the first game to help Feller score his seventh straight victory. In the second game, Lemon allowed only one batter to reach third until the ninth when he walked Ted Williams and Harry Agganis followed with a homer for Boston's only runs.

Sports Briefs

SALEM, N. H. — Sietelle and Siwano combined for the largest daily double of the year in New England this year — $1,510.20 — Thursday at Rockingham Park. Sietelle won the second race at $38.60, while Siwano accounted for the second at $82.60. Twenty-two $2.00 tickets were sold on the winning combination.

CHICAGO — The Chicago Cubs set a new attendance mark Thursday in their game with the New York Giants. Among the 29,136 fans in the park were 5,665 children — the largest number of children to buy tickets for a game in Cubs' history.

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. — Rocky Castellani, who starts serious training soon for his middleweight title fight with champion Carl (Bobo) Olson next month in San Francisco's Cow Palace, played host to more than 2,000 youngsters and their parents Thursday at his training camp at Bermuda Palms. The amiable Castellani treated the kids to ice cream and pop corn and then put on a four-round exhibition with spar mates Ernie Greer and Cliff Robertson.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. — Allan Silverman of Brooklyn, N. Y., advanced to the semi-final round of the Western Junior and Boys Tennis Championships Thursday by upsetting top-seeded Earl Bacholz of St. Louis, Mo., 6-4, 6-3.

NEW YORK — Sidney B. Wood Jr., president of the Tennis Players' League, blamed the death of the Spring Lake and Baltimore tournaments today on "unwarranted demands by a few name players" and warned that other tournaments are endangered.

Wood, a former Wimbledon champion, did not identify the players involved, nor did he outline the demands that they made. Amateur tennis players are supposed to accept only expense money for playing in tournaments. Wood said the league would hold a special meeting at Southampton, N. Y., July 30 to take "drastic corrective measures."

NEW YORK — Irv Noren, Yankee outfielder who was batting .366 a few days ago, still led the American League in batting today but his average was down to .339.

"I'm glad his average dropped," Manager Casey Stengel said with a grin. "Now the New York writers can go back to writing about Willie Mays."

Branca Signs With Yankees

NEW YORK — Ralph Branca, the old Dodger, has found a new home with the New York Yankees because Casey Stengel believes "he's still a good pitcher."

The 28-year-old right-hander, released July 11 by the fourth-place Detroit Tigers, hooked on with the second-place Yankees Thursday after displaying his pitching wares for Stengel during three days of pitching batting practice.

Manager Stengel was optimistic about Branca's future in a "magical" New York uniform—not profusely enthusiastic, but calmly and unreservedly optimistic.

"We picked him up because he's still strong and he's still a good pitcher," said Stengel. "We think maybe he can win a couple of games for us."

Stengel indicated that the former Dodger, famous as the pitcher who served up the home run ball to Bobby Thomson of the Giants in the playoff game that decided the 1951 National League pennant, will be given some time to get used to his new uniform.

"I doubt if he's in shape right now, though, because he hasn't been pitching enough," explained Stengel. "Sometime when we're way ahead or way behind, we'll put him in and see how he does."

Branca, a tall 210-pounder, had a record of three wins and three losses with the Tigers this year. His overall major league record is 83 victories and 63 defeats.

"I'm glad to be here," said Branca simply. "It took me 11 years to get here, but I finally made it."

Number of Elderly Citizens Growing

CHICAGO — Barring national disasters, there will be 16,000,000 persons aged 65 and over by 1960 and about 19,000,000 by 1970, according to T. Lynn Smith, University of Florida sociologist.

In an article in the Journal of Business, Smith wrote that "any spectacular medical developments that sharply cut mortality rates among the older population will increase still more the expectation of life after 65."

Smith said St. Petersburg, Fla. "stands in a class by itself" in the high number of old people in proportion to the population.

He said the nearest rival to St. Petersburg is Pasadena, Calif., followed by Atlantic City, N. J., Long Beach, Calif., Spokane, Wash., and Rochester, N. Y. The city with the most marked scarcity of old people is Corpus Christi, Tex., he added.

"The village or small town is still a very considerable extent America's 'old folk's home,'" Smith said.

The present concentrations of the aged are greatest in New England and the Middle West. At the other end of the scale are the Southwestern states, with New Mexico the lowest.

In state-to-state migration, Smith said New York, Pennsylvania, and Illinois lost the greatest number of oldsters. California, Florida, Texas, Washington and Louisiana have attracted the aged in the largest numbers.

Hearing Set for July 29 for Conservation Department Agent Who Refused Transfer

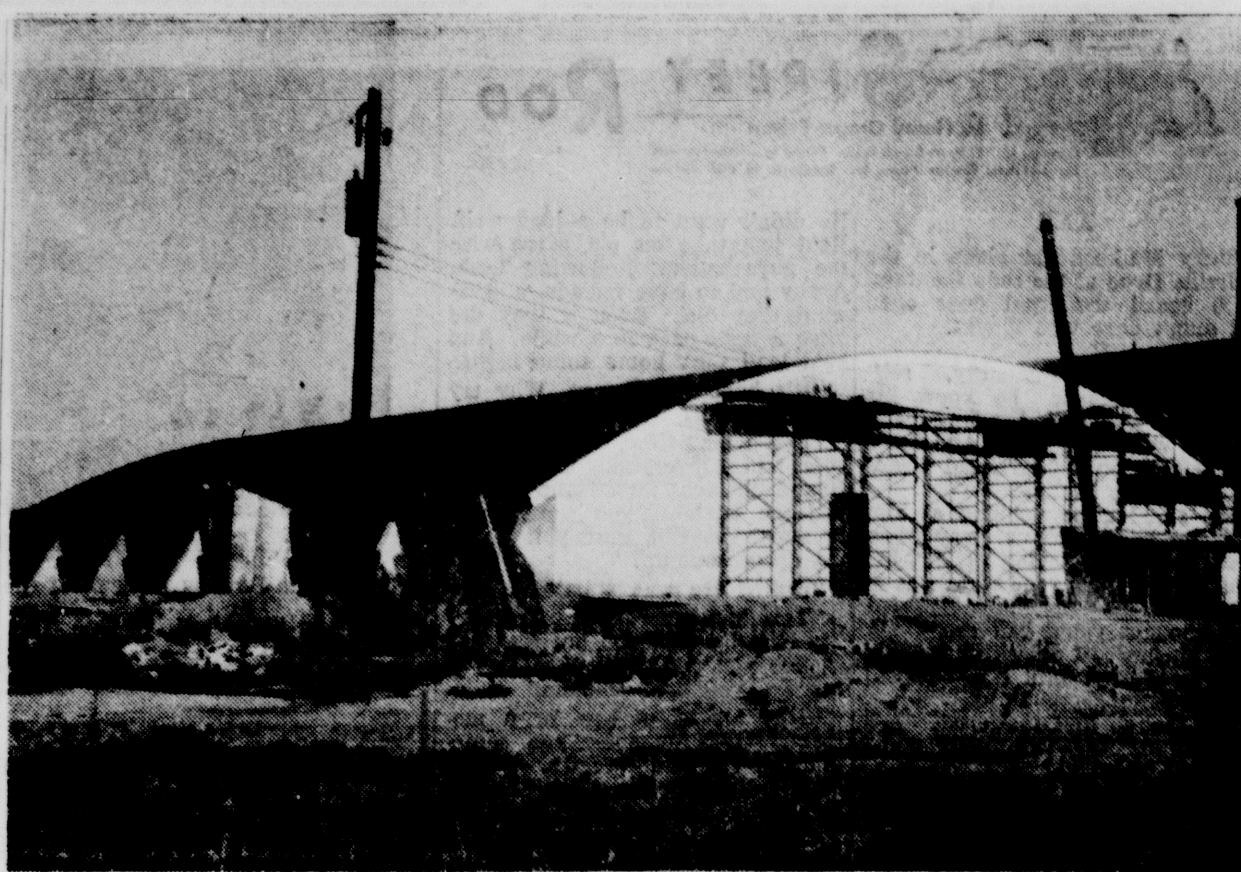

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (Special)—The Illinois Civil Service Commission has set July 29 for hearing the case of Cyril (Kelly) Duesterhaus, Quincy, whose dismissal as a state game warden is sought by the State Conservation Department. He is charged with having refused to accept a transfer from Quincy to Harrisburg. James N. Keefe, Quincy, counsel for Duesterhaus, said the latter is only one of about 30 game wardens, all Democrats, whom the Department seeks to replace with Republicans.

Duesterhaus, Keefe said, was scheduled to have had a hearing here before the Illinois Civil Service Commission yesterday only to find after he came here that it had been postponed to July 29. He claims the transfer of Duesterhaus as well as transfers of other inspectors (all Democrats) was a maneuver to force their resignations.

Keefe said Duesterhaus, who is classified as a conservation department inspector or game warden under civil service, was first asked to resign and that when he refused, was transferred to LaSalle county. He accepted the transfer, Keefe said, only to find two other game wardens in the county "doing nothing" so he wrote to the department that he was returning to Quincy to his old job.

Duesterhaus who went to work for the state in 1950, said he was transferred to LaSalle last September and that after he returned to Quincy was kept on the payroll until last month when he was ordered transferred to Harrisburg, a transfer which Keefe said he refused. After his refusal to accept the transfer Conservation Director Glen Palmer, Yorkville, suspended him for 30 days and preferred charges against Duesterhaus before the Civil Service Commission.

Keefe listed game wardens whose resignations were allegedly demanded because Palmer sought to replace them with Republicans, as including: Paul Vargo, Harrisburg, who is said to have resigned, then withdrew his resignation and whose status is still pending; Harold Knight, Rock Island, transferred from Rock Island county to Cook county, was asked to resign and who was replaced by Hank Hanah, Moline; and Lyman Works, assigned to Lawrence and Edwards county, who was requested to resign or take a transfer to Chicago from his wife and five children.

EQUALITY HIGH'S NEW GYMNASIUM is nearing completion and H. E. Mitchell Construction Co., Harrisburg, contractors for the structure, anticipate winding up work there within a month to six weeks. This will place the structure in readiness for the school term. The gymnasium section is 80 x 100 and at the east end is a new shop room 24 x 55. A stage is at one end of the gymnasium, which also houses two stage dressing rooms and two shower rooms. The gym is of the partially submerged type with the floor some four and a half feet below the school floor level. Five rows of bleacher seats will be placed on the north and south sides of the gym. Workmen this week completed the sub-flooring. (Register Staff Photo)

FOUR GOSH SAKES!—Surprise was registered in the Yankees dressing room by Irv Noren as he pointed to the bats signifying the number of hits garnered by the outfielder in a game won by his home run in the ninth inning. The face lighted by the grin belonged to the winning pitcher of the day, Whitey Ford. Noren batted at a phenomenal 560 clip in hot streak. (NEA)

Yankees Win Two from White Sox in Tune Up for Indians; Cubs Beat Giants

By EARL WRIGHT
United Press Sports Writer

Casey Stengel, the grizzled manager who manages the New York Yankees, predicted a three-game race down to the wire today as his second-place team began a three-game series with the front-running Cleveland Indians.

Cleveland held its half-game lead over New York Thursday by defeating the Boston Red Sox, 6-3, and 5-2, while New York downed the Chicago White Sox, 4-3 in 10 innings and 11-1.

The Yankees warmed up for Cleveland by taking three out of four from Chicago. Thursday's defeats dropped the third-place White Sox 6 1/2 games behind Cleveland. But Stengel said he figured both Cleveland and Chicago would make him sweat for his sixth straight American league pennant.

White Sox Can Gain

"The White Sox stand to profit from our series with Cleveland," Stengel said. "If Cleveland should sweep the series, we can be hurt bad. If we sweep it, it will hurt Cleveland but it'll also help Chicago. But it's just another tough series. Nobody (Cleveland, New York and Chicago) is gonna get very far ahead."

Manager Al Lopez of Cleveland plans to start Early Wynn, Don Mossi and Mike Garcia in that order. Stengel will counter with Ed Lopat, Allie Reynolds and Whitey Ford.

In the National league race, the Chicago Cubs defeated the first place Giants, 13-5, and the second-place Brooklyn Dodgers beat the Cincinnati Reds, 8-5, to cut New York's lead to six games.

Braves Edge Phillies, 3-2. The Milwaukee Braves edged the Philadelphia Phillies, 3-2, and Red Schoendienst singled home Wally Moon with two out in the bottom of the 14th inning to give the St. Louis Cardinals a 3-2 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates in the other National league contests.

Mickey Vernon's ninth inning single scored Mickey McDermott with the winning run as the Washington Senators defeated the Baltimore Orioles, 3-2, and home runs by Harvey Kuenn, Wayne Belardi, Frank Bolling and Jim Delsing helped the Detroit Tigers beat the Philadelphia Athletics, 9-4, in American league night games.

Bob Feller and Bob Lemon pitched seven-hitters at Boston. Vic Wertz hit two two-run homers in the first game to help Feller score his seventh straight victory. In the second game, Lemon allowed only one batter to reach third until the ninth when he walked Ted Williams and Harry Agganis followed with a homer for Boston's only runs.

Byrd Pitches Five-Hitter
The Yankees breezed behind Harry Byrd's five-hit pitching in the second game. But it took an injury to White Sox pitcher Sandy Consuegra, some fancy Stengel manipulations and Mickey Mantle's clutch hitting to pull New York from behind in the opener.

Mantle, who tied the game at 3-3 as a right-handed hitting center fielder, won it in the 10th as a left-handed hitting shortstop by homering off Don Johnson with two out.

Ransom Jackson hit a pair of two-run homers and Gene Baker homered with two out to lead the Cubs to victory over the Giants. The Cubs broke the game open with 11 runs in the seventh and eighth innings.

Duke Snider and PeeWee Reese hit homers to lead Brooklyn's 13th victory over the Reds. Don Newcombe got credit for his sixth victory although he got help from Jim Hughes.

Mankind's Birthplace

Some modern anthropologists cite scientific evidence that the races of man actually originated near the legendary site of the Garden of Eden, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

REPEATER?—This may be the first year since 1936-37 that fillies have topped the Hambletonian Stakes at Goshen, N. Y., two summers running. Helicopter trotted down in front a year ago, and Princess Rodney, above, Frank Ervin up, has a mighty good chance to make it two in a row for the girls, Aug. 4. (NEA)

Sports Briefs

SALEM, N. H. — Sietlette and Siwanoy combined for the largest daily double of the year in New England this year — $1,510.20 — Thursday at Rockingham Park. Sietlette won the second race at $38.60, while Siwanoy accounted for the second at $82.60. Twenty-two $2.00 tickets were sold on the winning combination.

CHICAGO — The Chicago Cubs set a new attendance mark Thursday in their game with the New York Giants. Among the 29,136 fans in the park were 5,665 children — the largest number of children to buy tickets for a game in Cubs' history.

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. — Rocky Castellani, who starts serious training soon for his middleweight title fight with champion Carl (Bobo) Olson next month in San Francisco's Cow Palace, played host to more than 2,000 youngsters and their parents Thursday at his training camp at Bermuda Palms. The amiable Castellani treated the kids to ice cream and pop corn and then put on a four-round exhibition with spar mates Ernie Greer and Cliff Robertson.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. — Allan Silverman of Brooklyn, N. Y., advanced to the semi-final round of the Western Junior and Boys Tennis Championships Thursday by upsetting top-seeded Earl Bucholz of St. Louis, Mo., 6-4, 6-3.

NEW YORK — Sidney B. Wood Jr., president of the Tennis Players League, blamed the death of the Spring Lake and Baltimore tournaments today on "unwarranted demands by a few name players" and warned that other tournaments are endangered.

Wood, a former Wimbledon champion, did not identify the players involved, nor did he outline the demands that they made. "Amateur tennis players are supposed to accept only expense money for playing in tournaments. Wood said the league would hold a special meeting at Southampton, N. Y., July 30 to take "drastic corrective measures."

NEW YORK — Irv Noren, Yankee outfielder who was batting .366 a few days ago, still led the American League in batting today but his average was down to .339.

"I'm glad his average dropped," Manager Casey Stengel said with a grin. "Now the New York writers can go back to writing about Willie Mays."

Yiddish Vs. Hebrew

Yiddish is a German dialect, developed under Hebrew and Slavic influence; Hebrew is the ancient language of the Jews, now the language of the State of Israel.

Branca Signs With Yankees

NEW YORK — Ralph Branca, the old Dodger, has found a new home with the New York Yankees because Casey Stengel believes "he's still a good pitcher."

The 28-year-old right-hander, released July 11 by the fourth-place Detroit Tigers, hooked on with the second-place Yankees Thursday after displaying his pitching wares for Stengel during three days of pitching batting practice.

Manager Stengel was optimistic about Branca's future in a "magical" New York uniform—not profusely enthusiastic, but calmly and unreservedly optimistic.

"We picked him up because he's still strong and he's still a good pitcher," said Stengel. "We think maybe he can win a couple of games for us."

Stengel indicated that the former Dodger, famous as the pitcher who served up the home run ball to Bobby Thomson of the Giants in the playoff game that decided the 1951 National League pennant, will be given some time to get used to his new uniform.

"I doubt if he's in shape right now, though, because he hasn't been pitching enough," explained Stengel. "Sometime when we're way ahead or way behind, we'll put him in and see how he does."

Branca, a tall 210-pounder, had a record of three wins and three losses with the Tigers this year. His overall major league record is 83 victories and 61 defeats.

"I'm glad to be here," said Branca simply. "It took me 11 years to get here, but I finally made it."

Number of Elderly Citizens Growing

CHICAGO — Barring national disasters, there will be 16,000,000 persons aged 65 and over by 1960 and about 19,000,000 by 1970, according to T. Lynn Smith, University of Florida sociologist.

In an article in the Journal of Business, Smith wrote that "any spectacular medical developments that sharply cut mortality rates among the older population will increase still more the expectation of life after 65."

Smith said St. Petersburg, Fla., "stands in a class by itself" in the high number of old people in proportion to the population.

He said the nearest rival to St. Petersburg is Pasadena, Calif., followed by Atlantic City, N. J., Long Beach, Calif., Spokane, Wash., and Rochester, N. Y. The city with the most marked scarcity of old people is Corpus Christi, Tex., he added.

"The village or small town is still to a very considerable extent America's 'old folk's home,'" Smith said.

The present concentrations of the aged are greatest in New England and the Middle West. At the other end of the scale are the Southwestern states, with New Mexico the lowest.

In state-to-state migration, Smith said New York, Pennsylvania, and Illinois lost the greatest number of oldsters. California, Florida, Texas, Washington and Louisiana have attracted the aged in the largest numbers.

Police Arrest Three For Area Burglaries

ous thefts, chiefly petty ones, had been committed during the past year in Saline, Pope, Gallatin and Hardin counties, mostly by Flick but with Boswell joining him in recent adventures, when the wives also went along and sat in the car waiting for them.

Other Incidents Admitted

The abandoned car where the trio was arrested belonged to Paul Chase of Harrisburg Route 3, who had left it on the shoulder when it went dead on him. A set of tools that were in the car also had been removed.

Other Saline county incidents were admitted. Boswell said it was he and Flick who were in the Freeman Humphrey salvage yard on Route 45 near Middle Fork bridge several nights ago when Humphrey fired at them. Humphrey had been missing articles and had been staying at his business to try to get the thieves.

Boswell said that he and Flick had been to the salvage yard on numerous occasions, once stealing a new tractor battery, and also having stolen wheels, tires, a generator and transmission. They also took a cigarbox containing 300 automobile titles and car keys which they said they intended to use in their operations.

Wife Tells of Theft

At Bob Holman's garage in Eldorado, Mrs. Flick said, five or six spare tires and wheels and four batteries were stolen off cars on the used car lot.

She also said that at the farm of Mrs. Ulysses Allen near Thompsonville, where a tractor was left in a field, the battery and gasoline were stolen during the night. The auto batteries stolen, she said, were used to power Flick's radio, and as soon as they went dead, they were sold for junk.

The women said they and their husbands broke into a shack at the dumping grounds near Pankeyville, taking a number of articles.

Probably the biggest theft in monetary value, Sheriff Spangler said, was the stealing by Flick of soybeans from John Alsip in Pope county.

In Hardin county, the Flick woman admitted, four or five chickens at a time were stolen from farmers' chicken yards, a battery and gasoline were taken from a tractor on a Douglas farm near Cave-in-Rock and two new truck tires were stolen from the Burgess Motor Co. at Rosiclare.

Also, it was stated, some items had been stolen at Lollar, south of Route 13 in Gallatin county.

Ricky Madison sat alone in the Dellville Drug at the soda fountain. He heard the front door open but didn't care who it was.

"Ricky," he looked reluctantly, self-conscious because he knew his right eye was still discolored and his lips were still puffy. And there was a scab on his forehead where a scrape was healing.

She stood close, looking at him with her wide, serious, gray-green eyes, as though trying to look behind his eyes and read what was in his mind.

"I thought you'd call me," he blushed. "I didn't think you'd want to see me until I... looked a little better."

"As though that mattered. How are you coming with your plans for the auto show?"

He looked at her shamefacedly. There was an expression of disappointment on her pretty face. "I thought it over. I wouldn't have a chance, Sharon. Not a chance. Gosh, there'll be guys there with dream jobs. I'd look foolish with what I've got."

She looked at him searchingly, noticing his hesitancy and lack of confidence. "Is that the only reason? Because you're afraid you won't win?"

"I don't have the money... or the time... I'd be foolish to try."

"What about the DTA?" Sharon asked. Ricky shrugged and looked outside. There was only one answer.

He didn't want to be a lone wolf. He'd just take his old place with the guys again. Following Link. A guy had to have friends, and do what they did. Even if they did have a fight once in a while. And he'd lead Link home some night.

"It's hopeless, Sharon. Why try to kid myself?"

"For a long time, Ricky, you've been telling everybody about your wonderful ideas for custom bodies, and the business you were going to start. Isn't it time you either put up or shut up?"

"Huh?" He was startled.

"This is your chance. You say you have good ideas, but the first chance you get to show what you can do, you turn chicken."

Ricky looked at her for a moment. "Let me show you something," he said quietly. "Wait here." He went out to his car and came back with a portfolio in his hand. "Let me show you some of my designs."

He opened the portfolio to the first, a long, low sports car with sweeping lines. "Like it?"

"It's beautiful!"

"Yeah. I could make my coupe look like that—for about $5000. And look at this design. Like it?"

Sharon nodded.

"Nice. But I forgot the state has laws about the minimum height of headlights and minimum road clearance. If I change to obey the laws, my design won't work at all. Even if these designs were good, I couldn't afford to have them built."

"So?"

"So," Ricky said. "So what's the use of trying to enter the auto show? I can't build anything anyone would want to buy, or have me build."

"Wait a minute," Sharon said. "Wait a minute. Come outside, Ricky. Please."

He followed her out. They stood in front of his coupe.

"Ricky, have you seen any other coupes that look like yours?"

"Only about a million. Every other rod in Iowa looks like this. Black, shaved, rear end lowered."

"How many of those drivers do you think would like their cars to look—well, a little different from the others?"

He scratched his head thoughtfully. "Yeah... yeah, I see. Suppose I modified my coupe just enough so it was something different."

"Make the best of what you have, Ricky," Sharon urged. "This is a show for street rods. Make yours the most attractive one at the show. Show them what can be done with an old car for a reasonable amount."

"It would advertise my business," Ricky said, beginning to get excited.

"And I might help you design."

"You?" Ricky asked incredulously.

"Well, you'll be surprised how much help I can give you. Anyone can draw a pretty dress, Ricky, but one that looks good on paper and one that looks good on people—they're sometimes two different dresses. And I know it's the same with cars."

He went to the coupe and drew lines with his finger to show her what he had in mind.

"I'd like to start fairly high in front, see, and make a long line that sweeps back and down. Then, about three-quarters of the way back, I want to start my second line, a little higher than the end of the first, and sweep that back and down. No boxy look, no lightning zigzags or that kind of chrome-plated stuff. Just something simple, almost severe, but graceful."

"Just like a dress," Sharon said. "A cheap dress can hide bad lines under a lot of ruffles and sashes. But the hardest thing in the world to make is a simple black dress. It has to be good or it shows."

"That's what I want," Ricky said. "Something simple, that shows good."

He looked up at the sound of a goose horn in the street. Link was there in his convertible, followed by Chub, Jerry and Sherm. "You coming?" Link yelled. It was a command.

Ricky hesitated. He'd made a fool out of himself so many times with his big talk. He looked at Sharon. She looked away. It was his decision.

"We're going to Des Moines," Link said. "Come on."
